None of that matters.

In fact, you need NO SPECIAL EDUCATION..... virtually NO MONEY PUT AT RISK..... only your SPARE TIME..... and the willingness to follow very easy-to-understand instructions.

It doesn't matter whether you run your own business now or work as somebody else's employee..... whether you're already doing quite well financially or barely eking out a living..... whether you have an M.B.A. or barely escaped high school..... whether you're an executive, salesman, doctor, lawyer, accountant, truck driver, farmer, retiree, or homemaker.

The only thing that matters here and now is your desire to board this gravy train of incredible rewards, excitement, and profits available from an Internet and Website business that really works.

The Problem

You decide you're sick of your job.

You're tired of waking up every morning to do something you don't enjoy.

You're tired of being mistreated.

You're tired of being a slave.

You're tired.

You realize it will take you years to get the money you need to live your dreams.

When I decided to go into business for myself my motivations were very much the same.

You decide "enough is enough". You look for other options.

Maybe you can go into business for yourself? There has to be a better way, right?

You start doing research and you're overwhelmed with the options. You decide, though, that it's better to work for yourself than someone else, so you know that one way or another you will quit your "day job".

Big Lie #1: "Be your own boss and your life will be easier."

There is a truer saying that goes, "the toughest boss you'll ever have is yourself."

Working for yourself has a tremendous amount of uncertainty, and requires a tremendous amount of effort.

It can be rewarding, but it's all up to you at this point. Most self-employed people I know work more hours - not less. The one nice thing you can't deny, though, is that it does put you in control of your destiny (but only if you avoid the following pitfalls!).

You make the big choice: start your own business or participate in a business opportunity (franchise, network marketing, affiliate, etc ...)

Like most people, you probably went the easy route first. You started promoting a business opportunity, or maybe even several of them ...

You spent a heap of money on books and tools. You worked late into the night. You neglected your social life ("Hey, I'm pursuing my dream - my life can wait.")

And in the end for what?

After a few months you do the math ... If you had put the same hours into overtime at your job you would have made more money ...

And then someone tells you the "big secret": "the only way to make money is to sell your own product!"

Big Lie #2: "The only way to make R.E.A.L money is to sell your own product."

Well, you may gross more money ... but you probably won't make more money.

The cost of running a business, even when you are the only employee, can be quite high.

At our peak of 40 employees, our business (and all of our subsidiaries) cost $250,000 per month to operate!

Even when you're doing millions of dollars per year in business, you may not end up with much at the end of the day ...

You go into business for yourself.

You're now totally in control.

The money goes straight to you and you're happy. When you get those first few sales you're fired up!

At the end of the first couple months, though, you realize that your business is getting out of control. There is too much to do and you're now sleeping even less than before.

Someone tells you: "Why do all the work yourself? Hire some employees and let them do the work!"

Big Lie #3: "Just hire some employees and you can kick back while they do the work."

I can assure you that anyone who gives that advice doesn't have any employees of their own. It's a great theory, but in reality it doesn't end up that way.

Looking back on it, there is not one day that I've had to work less because of the people in my employ.

No offense to them ... I've had some great employees - some of them were superb. But ultimately (and ironically) my life was never easier as a result.

In fact, I don't think I've worked less than 12 hours a day (usually more like 16 hours) in the last several years ... And that's almost every single day - including weekends.

Now, I did have my staff develop some pretty amazing systems to automate our business and that helped tremendously. My problem was that we kept growing and building. If anything, we should have used the automation to its fullest and kept things simple.

Where the heck are you now?

Now you're working more hours, your life is more complex than ever before, you experience stress every moment you're awake and when you sleep you don't really rest - you toss and turn every night worrying about business "issues" (but we're so brainwashed into believing running a business is our key to happiness that we call them "issues" instead of "problems").

Does that sound like you?

Of course it does.

This is the story I hear from almost every business owner I know. There are a few exceptions who have used a skillful combination of automation and outsourcing, but the vast majority have relived the above story to one degree or another.

I personally lost track of my own dream along the way ... I started down my entrepreneurial path to get personal freedom, but I ended up losing freedom rather than gaining it.

"Freedom to do what," you ask?

Well, I don't even have to tell you what my dream is ... You know what I mean because you have your own dream. It's what got you walking down this path to begin with.

...Maybe you wanted to buy a boat and live on the water

...Maybe you wanted to go back to school

...Maybe you wanted to be an artist

...Maybe you just wanted to have more time to spend with your children

But it all went back to money, didn't it?

You didn't have enough money or time to pursue this dream, so you got into business - thinking that it would take your troubles away.

Instead you woke up one day and realized that you weren't living your dream at all.

In fact, your life had become much much harder.

Is There an Answer?

Inside, you'll learn how I addressed this problem in my own life.

I'll show you my theory and what I believe to be a great solution to this problem.

Let me tell you right now, though - if you're looking for an answer that won't take any time and effort on your part, you won't hear that from me. Such a thing doesn't exist.

What I will show you, though, is a path that will allow you to set up income streams that will give you a certain amount of freedom.

It's a realistic plan that definitely works.

Making The 5 Promises

"We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence, then, is not an act, but a habit."
Aristotle

You probably have a lot of questions at this point. Don't worry! Answers to those questions will come soon enough.

The 5 Promises of Freedom will keep you on the right track ...

They may not make much sense now, but as you move up the ranks in the path, more and more you'll understand how important this is.

Print it, place it somewhere you will see it once a day (like next to a bathroom mirror), and go on to the next step ...

The 5 Promises Of Freedom

I have a dream: I want enough time and money to stably do with my life as I please.

I accept that only relentless focused action has the power to turns dreams into reality.

I will focus my action by resolutely keeping the following 5 promises as I would a sacred oath:

Promise #1: I Will Take FULL Responsibility of My Life
(because responsibility = control, I am now control my life)

Promise #2: I Will Start From, and Maintain, Stability in My Life
(because freedom without stability is fleeting)

Promise #3: I Will Stop the Cash-Bleeding
(because low expenses provide for higher stability and greater profitability)

Promise #4: I Will Get in Control of My Health
(because good health begets relentless focused action)

Promise #5: I Will Relentlessly Build R.E.A.L Income Streams
(because they will set me free)

Since it is obvious that following these steps faithfully and relentlessly will allow me to realize my dream, I will do the following in order to speed up the realization of that dream:

I will print this formula, sign my name to it, and display it in a place where I will see it at least once a day.

Each time I see it, I will recite it until I have it memorized it verbatim at which point I will recite it from memory once a day.

I will follow my personal step-by-step action path until I am completely empowered to live the life of my dreams.

What Is It You Really Want?

I'll address that in a second, but let me make a few guesses about you. Maybe you:

- Are sick of being treated like a slave at your job and are looking for another way ...
- Started a business to give yourself freedom only to find that you're now a slave to your business ...
- Have just now woken up to the fact that soon you'll have to retire and you don't have nearly enough money saved up to stop working ...
- Have a dream and just can't figure out why, no matter how hard you try, it just isn't becoming a reality ...

Maybe all of the above apply to you.

No matter what, though, there are some things you need to know:

1. You're not alone.
2. It's not your fault (it will be if you don't act, though).
3. We're about to show you some surprising things that will shock you.

You are about to be exposed to some radical ideas, systems, and people that will change your life forever.

So, what is it that you want, then?

The answer is simple, really - on the surface. I've asked hundreds of people this question, and no matter who they are, what their dream is, or where they are from, it all boils down to one thing: freedom

At the core of every human desire is the unstoppable urge for freedom.

How many times a day do you say to yourself:

"If I had enough money, I would _____"
"If I only had more time, I would _____"

Well, if we all want freedom, how come so few of us really have it?

Can you wake up every morning and do exactly what you want? If the answer to that question was "yes" you wouldn't be here right now.

I'm about to show you:

- a. How big business is programming you for slavery (they are quite happy to keep you where you are) - and how to break that programming once and for all.
- b. A mathematical formula that shows you how to achieve true freedom - every time - without fail.

Are you ready?

Great!

Breaking the Cycle

Before we can become Free, we must first understand the slavery we're in. Our slavery is brought on by a combination of marketing, diet, and habit. Once in this cycle, it is so difficult to leave that virtually all of us are trapped in it until we die.

And the cycle goes on ...

Go back and read that again.

That's right. Go back and look at the diagram again. Study each step. How closely does it mirror your life?

It's probably pretty clear at this point that the above cycle demonstrates the way most of us live our lives. It's a shameful epidemic, but once the cycle is broken, we can learn what it is to be human again. We can learn what it means to be truly alive.

How, how does one break the cycle?

The key to breaking the cycle lies in freeing yourself economically.

This is where things are about to get very exciting! It doesn't stop there, but it is the easiest place to begin.

To free yourself economically, you must establish R.E.A.L. Income Streams.

R.E.A.L Freedom is derived from R.E.A.L Income

The length of time it takes you to become totally empowered is totally up to you. It will take you as long or as short a period of time as you like. Your effort and your persistence will determine it.

Let's dig deeper into the formula.

What Is The R.E.A.L Income model?

It is: Residual, Exponential, Abandon-able, and Leisure-Friendly.

The Two Types of Slave Incomes

A Job

We've all had slave jobs and we know what that's all about. You work for the man and when you stop working you stop getting paid.

Some of these jobs are better than others, but for the most part they leave your future totally up in the air, or dependent upon your continued efforts.

A Business You Own

This is, in actuality, far worse than a slave job for most. For the vast majority of business owners, what they thought would become their path to financial freedom became the worst job they ever had.

They work more hours. They have more stress. The bills mount and mount.

It never ends ...

R.E.A.L Income however, is different

Once established it will be:

Residual

A non residual income stream (like a job or a business you own outright) requires your continued work to generate revenue. A residual income stream will continue to generate revenue for you after it has been established. This provides for an incredible amount of freedom and security - especially when you have many such lucrative streams established.

Exponential (non-linear)

A linear income stream shows a linear relationship between the time you put into it and what you get out. You work X hours and you get Y dollars.

An exponential income stream will multiply itself. You put in X hours and the result you get can grow and grow continuously ...

Abandon-able

If you have a job, once you leave it, so leaves the money. If you own a business if you leave it suddenly not only will your money dry up, but you could even end up in jail (every customer you take on represents a legal and moral obligation to keep servicing them). A R.E.A.L Income Stream can be left unattended and no major consequence will occur.

Leisure-Friendly

When you have a job your schedule is dictated by your boss. When you own a business, your schedule is dictated by your customers.

When you are empowered, your schedule is dictated by you.

R.E.A.L Income Streams do not require you to work at any set time. You work when you want to work.

The effort you put in can multiply. The money doesn't immediately dry up when you stop working. You are not legally or ethically obligated to continue. You can set your own schedule.

That's true freedom ...

Just remember that this is not a path to sloth - it is a path to freedom. You may be able to quit your job, but you'll still have to work.

Now, when you are living exclusively on R.E.A.L Income Streams it is conceivable that the amount of work you have to put in is very very small ...

But let's not get ahead of ourselves!

The difference is the happiness, true freedom, and enjoyment you get out of life as a result.

The R.E.A.L Triangle

Most people dream about having financial freedom but few ever realize that getting to that level is an exact process. Let me explain.

To make R.E.A.L Income, we need three different types of income:

1. Instant Income

We need a method that produces income right now (not next week, next month or next year... today) so we can Survive day to day. We've got to have the peace of mind of knowing that we've got our personal survival needs like eating and paying bills covered. And if we want business wealth we need to have an income today source big enough to provide for our future business' survival too, because when you're launching a new business model the key is to fund the business as much as possible out of cash flow of that business. That's Instant Income.

2. Residual Income

Once we have our survival needs covered with enough Income money, we need an residue income source to provide us with Security and Stability. This is where you start to breathe again and get your first taste of real money and maybe for the first time YOU'LL be firmly in control of your life. Here you discover total peace of mind and the confidence of knowing that you aren't worrying about where your next meal is coming from or how you will be able to cover unexpected expenses.

3. Passive Income

This is the final, ultimate level where you get true lifelong wealth and prosperity . Here you discover how to turn any business into an asset that provides wealth you can leave to your children. This type of income also makes you money no matter what you are personally doing with your time (even if you're on lifetime retirement/vacation, lounging around in a hammock and sipping exotic drinks from a coconut).

Everyone dreams about reaching this level, but few ever do because either they get seduced by the second type of income (see, Residual Income can make you rich but not truly free , wealthy and prosperous... there are many successful people who make great money but are still slaves to their business and lifestyle because if they stop running on that gerbil wheel, their income stops instantly too)... or else they never figure out how to get past the survival part of the process.

Pretty basic, right? But here's where I think a lot of people get lost in the process:

Each of the three phases in the process must come from the previous one.

You can't create R.E.A.L Income without first creating an Instant Income and then transforming that into an Residual and finally Passive Income.

Each type of income is literally the stepping stone that takes you to the next one and next one.

Make sense?

A lot of the educational programs that you might have purchase in the past and a lot of the ones that are still being currently sold today, seems like only focuses on one end of the spectrum or the other.

Either they teaching you how to make money today or show you the dream of creating R.E.A.L income.

But they don't show you exactly how to bridge the gap in between. Until now...

The R.E.A.L Income Secret

The concept I'm going to reveal help you to tap into the minds of the people you want money from.

People will almost never give you their money for your reasons.

What you have to do is show people that you want their money for the exact same reasons they want to give their money to somebody/anybody and believe it or not, that's a lot easier to do than it sounds.

Once you understand how to see what motivates another person, you can put yourself in position to show them how what you have to offer will help them do whatever it is they're trying to do.

That's really the only way to get someone's attention.
Don't try to convince people they need what you're selling.

Show them how what you're selling will help them do something they're already trying to do.

That makes your product a natural fit for what they care about.

People care about themselves first, what they're trying to do, anyone else who seems to care about them and anything that appears to be able to help them do more of what they already want to do.

This leads me to the core concept I wish to share with you today.

All people really want is an easy way to do more of what they've already set their mind on doing.

They're already headed in a particular direction and if you have a product that you can offer them as a "vehicle" to help them get there faster, you WILL get rich!

It's much easier to hitch a ride with someone to somewhere they're already going instead of trying to get them to take you where you want to go, which may be in the opposite direction.

You'll encounter a lot of resistance that way.

A lot of times, that's what we (as marketers) do. We try to convince people to do things we want them to do (like buy from us) instead of showing them how our products can help them get to the destination they've already picked out in their heads.

"Hitching A Ride" To Success Is Nothing New

Back in 1848 the "California Gold Rush" began.

People came from all over the world to claim their share of the wealth.

Now you would think that the people who found the most gold were the wealthiest of the time but that isn't exactly true.

The actual fact of the matter is that the people who consistently became rich were the ones who sold tools to those who were mining for gold.

People who never found one ounce of gold bought shovels, rugged jeans and other supplies.

Merchants who sold those tools consistently made money no matter how much gold was found.

Selling the tools people need to do something they want to do will always fill your pockets with cash.

This concept always works and it never gets stale like specific marketing strategies.

Try and wrap your mind around the concept and you'll be able to come up with your own techniques to use it with.

Make People Have To Go Through You To Get Where They Want To Go

When you control the tools people need to do whatever is they want to do, you control the actions they take and that includes how they spend their money.

If someone has to go through you to get to their destination faster, you can't help but make money.

You see examples of people selling tools all the time. You just have to pay attention.

Notice how many things you can't do unless you pay someone for his or her tool to help you do it.

R.E.A.L Income Case Study

And the truth is...

I Haven't Even Scratched The Surface

There are so many ways to use the concepts I teach that it literally boggles the mind. Spend some time thinking about how you can “hitch a ride” with people who are looking to spend money to get to their destination and I’m sure you can come up with more than a few ideas.

When you see people doing something they want to do, think about ways to get them to pay you to help them do more of it.

By doing that, you won't need tons of specific ideas from me because you will be able to come up with your own. I just wanted you to understand the basic idea of how this works.

Once you understand the basic idea, you'll never be at the mercy of “gurus” constantly trying to peddle specific ideas and strategies on you because you'll understand the big idea behind how and why they work.

If you look at it, all the gurus do is “hitch a ride” on your desire for a better life by giving you what you think you need; the latest “secret” marketing ideas, tips and strategies to give you an edge over the competition.

If you think you need something else, they’ll sell you whatever it is that you’ve shown an interest in.

In other words, your major competitors (the people you learn from) are constantly trying to figure out what you want to do so they can sell you ideas, techniques and tools to help you do more of it knowing you will always pay for anything you think will get you closer to achieving whatever goals you’ve set for yourself.

When you buy from one person over another, the only reason you do is because that person has done a better job (presentation wise) of showing you that what they have to offer will help get you to your goals faster than the other guy.

This idea works when selling any type of product or service.

Find out what people want to do (many times this is as easy as asking them) then show them how your product helps them do that.

Always remember that the basis for creating products is to help people do more of something they already want to do.

For example, if people want to make more money, instead of simply showing them how, give them an easy way to do it with a minimum amount of effort.

Set everything up for them and allow them to plug into your system and get paid for sending buyers your way.

So if you understand nothing else, understand this:

“Any solution you come up with that makes it easy on people has a 100% better chance of selling than anything that requires them to work. The majority of people want things already done, and they will pay top dollar to have it done for them.”

Creating Your R.E.A.L Income System

One of the greatest systems ever developed in the fast food industry was Ray Kroc's vision of consistency, based on a proven formula that was to be applied to all McDonald's restaurants.

McDonald's didn't start out as an empire. It was Ray's system, based on the fact that McDonald's restaurants in California had the same menu prepared in the same way as the McDonald's in New York, that enabled their tremendous growth.

Ray developed a system that he tested and tweaked, until it was a model of success: his "seed" system. Then he multiplied that system in a huge way, rolling it out on a grand scale and taking the rewards that came with it.

The beauty of this concept is anyone can do it, whether on a large or much smaller scale, and get the same results as the "seed" system.

And as you're reading this now, there's a few things you need to know.

*Not only looking at my system now...
You're actually 'in' my system, and...
You've just proven to yourself that my system works*

You see...there's a little secret I'm gonna let out the bag now.

This very report that you're reading...is my R.E.A.L Income system.

Think about it.

A free report is the most powerful employee you could ever hire.

It will relentlessly go out and deliver your message perfectly, every time. It will never call in sick. It will never complain. And it will never quit on you.

Simply put, a powerful free report is like having a little automatic, money-making robot working for you, tirelessly...day and night.

Here's a "Behind-The-Scenes" look at how I create staggering income by creating and distributing this exclusive FREE Report.

The most important principle you need to understand is this:

Kick Ass Content + Product Referral = Mega Profits

Without going into too many details, it basically means Free content that pre-sells and leads readers to make a purchase.

Think of it this way.

When you begin to make a protein shake, what do you do?

You take protein powder and you take milk. They are two separate items. You place them into a blender and they slowly lose their own identify and they become something unique -- a milkshake.

They are no longer "milk" and "protein powder" individually. They have become something new – a protein shake.

That's what you want.

You don't want just the content by itself, and you don't want the offer by itself -- you want them carefully blended together so they appear as something unique and new...almost as if they never even had two separate parts.

Hand them an eBusiness power shake and they'll be smacking their lips (and ordering your stuff!) quicker than you can say "blender." :o)

And sooner or later,

...they'll ask for dessert. And that's when you'll make your sale. :o)

You see, there really is a technique that I've been fortunate enough to darn-near-perfect that works like crazy for getting folks off of the fence long enough to whip out their credit card and buy something from me.

(I continue to tweak this technique, and probably always will in order to make it better)

It's what I call the "Vacuum Sales Technique".

Basically, it works like this:

I provide powerful 'how to' content. It's not fluff or filler, it's valuable stuff.

But, it's also "incomplete". There are some elements to it that are not thoroughly explained, or certain sections depend upon or could be made better by investing in an 'extra something'.

And that extra 'something' is? – You guessed it the programs that I recommend.

Why does this work?

Simple. Being unable to actually implement all that powerful information that has just been revealed creates a very 'empty' kind of feeling.

And we all know, nature abhors a vacuum.

That's why readers of this report all can't wait to lay their hot little hands on the programs I recommend.

Does it work?

You bet.

Just this morning, I received another bunch of sign-ups passively.

That's a cool $300+ since about 5 hours ago when I first checked my email today.

Not a bad profit considering I spent the morning bouncing my baby boy on my knee instead of working the grind like everyone else I know.

And it's all thanks to this very FREE Report you're reading.

So, what does that have to do with YOU and earning big fat commissions on autopilot?

Well, the good news is just below the surface of this ebook is a potential non-stop, moneymaking machine just waiting for you to turn on.

You can now duplicate the exact same system I use for distributing this amazingly profitable viral report and create a 100% automated income that flows in 24/7 on remote control.

The great thing about a Viral FREE Report like this is that it creates a level playing field. ANYONE (whether you've been online for years or are just starting out) can profit from it.

If you can type, copy and paste -- and have 30 seconds free today, then you can do this!
